A screenshot of a website page titled 'Tribunals are amongst... in Australia for... of matters and cost...' with a yellow background. Below the title, there are two main sections: 'For people going to court' and 'Judgments and decisions'. The 'For people going to court' section includes links for 'Common questions answered', 'accessing legal advice', 'who's who in court', 'court security', and 'witness information'. The 'Judgments and decisions' section includes links for 'How to access court judgments and decisions', 'Also, how to search findings and recommendations made by the...', and 'Alternative Dispute Resolution'. At the bottom right, there are 'Help and support' and 'Top ↑' buttons.

The screenshot shows a web browser window with the URL courts.nsw.gov.au. A purple sidebar on the left, titled 'Personalization Options', contains various accessibility settings like font size, text spacing, contrast, and CSS. A large red arrow points from the 'Font' button in this sidebar to the 'Font size: 350%' slider on the main content page. The main content area is framed by a thick red border and lists several services with underlined links: 'The Sheriff', 'Access for people with disabilities', 'Interpreters and translators', 'victims of crime', 'Support for Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people', 'Security in court', 'Feedback and complaints', 'NSW Online Registry', 'NCAT Online services', and 'Your Feedback' with three icons (smiley, frowny, lightbulb). At the bottom, there's a 'Top ↑' button and a footer acknowledging traditional owners.
